

FIFTY-NINTH REPORT ON BARROWS.

BY R. HANSFORD WORTH, RECORDER.

NEITHER of the two barrows here recorded is marked on any edition of the Ordnance Survey.

GUTTOR, RINGMOOR.

Six-inch Ordnance Survey, Devon, cxii. s.e., lon. $4^{\circ}-0'-22\frac{1}{2}''$, lat. $50^{\circ}-29'-11''$. About one hundred and thirty yards to the west of the enclosure wall of Ringmoor, and two hundred and eighty yards to the south-west of Burracombe Gate.

For some years I have known the small cairn at this spot; it is, however, impossible to record all cairns and barrows, although it might be well could this be done.

In the year 1938, Mr. L. Button, of Plymouth, did a little clearing, removing some loose stone and some growth. He was rewarded by the discovery of a well-formed kistvaen. Both sides and ends are in place, but the north end leans inward, shortening the apparent length of the kist. The present internal dimensions are $17\frac{1}{2}$ ins. wide by $20\frac{1}{2}$ ins. long. The probable original length was 33 ins. The depth has not been ascertained. The direction of length is N.o.^oW. There is a ruined retaining circle of approximately 11 ft. internal diameter. See plate I, fig. 1, for a view of this kistvaen, and fig. 1 in the text for a plan.

DUNNABRIDGE POUND FARM NEWTAKE.

Six-inch Ordnance Survey, Devon, cvii, N.W., lon. $3^{\circ}55'-11''$, lat. $50^{\circ}33'-52''$.

I am indebted to Mr. John and Miss Anne Coaker, the son and daughter of Mr. Frank Coaker of Great Sherberton, for my knowledge of this kist, which was found when some furze was burnt.

The kistvaen has been robbed, and only the western side-stone stands erect; this is 5ft. 9ins. in length, and bears N.9^oW. Although the north end-stone is missing, its backing-stones are still in place, and the kist can be ascertained to have been 2ft. wide at this end. Similarly the backing-stone of the east side of the kistvaen is still in place, but the length of the kist can not be ascertained. The south end-stone is also missing.

The kist stands in a small but much robbed cairn; no trace of a retaining circle can be found.

This grave is one of a group of eight, the others of which lie in Belliver Newtake, Black Newtake and on Dunnabridge Common. Plate I, fig. 2, gives a view of the surviving side-stone.
